CALIFORNIA SPEAKS!

Significant Statements by Interesting Californians

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE DOUGLAS L. EDMONDS (arguing for fewer shorter legal holidays): "The nature of legal controversy is such that it leads to endless discussion. It is like eating peanuts; one usually continues long after one's jaws become tired."

GEORGE REILLY, S. F. member State Board of Equalization (in shortest speech on record): "Good evening. You don't want a speech. Have a good time!"

DR. CHARLES W. TAYLOR, head of Stanford's school of biology: "Some people assume that we have already solved such problems as heredity versus environment. They are not only unsolved; at present, they appear insoluble."

BILL WYATT, San Diego sailor: "We wouldn't even get two feet down the gangplank if we answered Westbrook Pegler's description of a Navy man. His comments are just dum-dums from the typewriter."

H. M. MOODY, ex-publisher of Redding: "The answer to dead end kids is dead end parents."

EDWARD J. FLYNN, Democratic National Chairman (visiting in California): "The Democratic Party has been dominant in California only eight years. It still has growing pains!"

Three Lovelady Celebrate Birthdays on Same Day Here

When the Lovelady clan celebrates a birthday they really mean it because three members mark another milestone on the same day. Monday, March 3, was the occasion for such a triple festivity in honor of G. S. Lovelady of LaVerne, his son, T. S. Lovelady of 1670 Gramercy avenue and the Torrance Feed and Fuel store on Carson st., and his grandson, Wayne Lovelady, of this city. The LaVerne patriarch of the clan was 79 years of age while grandson Wayne was 15. The elder Lovelady was born in Missouri and has been in the real estate business in California for the past 28 years. His son, T. S. Lovelady is a native of Iowa and Wayne was born in South Dakota.
